Astir Beach offers First Aid to its guests, in case of medical emergency, as laid down by Law. All guests are kindly requested to give the necessary information to the Doctor or Nurse that will take care of them. Guests must follow the orders given to them. In case of serious injury, guests are allowed to leave the First Aid Station after signing all the documents required. In case the injured person is a minor, he/she is allowed to leave the First Aid Station only if accompanied by a parent or guardian. The First Aid Station is equipped with all the adequate medicines and equipment to treat medical emergencies. Use of medicines will take place only on the advice of the doctor, who is fully responsible for the treatment of the patient/injured person. To ensure the proper operation of the beach, guests must inform the Beach Manager in case of chronic health problems before using the beach facilities and especially before engaging in water sports.

LIFEGUARD
At the beach there is the anticipated number of lifeguards as defined by Law. Lifeguards’ working hours, as required by Law for the operation of the beach, shall be displayed in a prominent place to inform bathers. Directives given by the lifeguard on duty must be adhered to. In case of extreme weather events or in case of marine pollution, Lifeguard can prohibit swimming, following the approval of the Beach Management and the Port Authority. When the red flag is displayed on the Lifeguard tower, guests must be aware that there is no Lifeguard on duty and they are swimming under their own responsibility. The beach has clearly visible markers of swimming zones. Guests must be aware that swimming out of the swimming zones is at their own risk, since the area out of the swimming zone is not supervised by Lifeguards. Guests with health problems must inform the Lifeguard before starting any activity on the beach.

BEACH SAFETY
The Beach Management is not responsible for any guest’s indecent behaviour and for problems or accidents caused from such behaviour. Children should be under constant parent or adult supervision, recognizing the potential dangers that may occur in a crowded beach. The Beach fulfills all modern fire safety requirements and has acquired every legally necessary permission in order to function properly. The Beach employs a premises maintenance manager, who takes care of the Beach and oversees any maintenance works that are in progress.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES
Guests can get the special electromagnetic key with a small additional charge at the beach entrance. This key allows them to store their personal belongings at the lockers located in the changing rooms. The Management will not accept responsibility for the loss of any valuable objects.
